JennySmithRollsOn.com
Jenny@JennySmithRollsOn.com
502.550.1335

Jenny Smith, M.Ed.

Speaker & Author

Jenny has a passion for motivating and educating others about living the impossible through her speaking and writing. Her desire is to see people of all abilities living a full and active life.

After completing her master's degree in counseling psychology, she distributed wheelchairs for eight years in developing countries. For over 13 years, she supported cross-cultural workers as they served overseas.
By coming alongside people with spinal cord injuries and chronic physical conditions, Jenny hopes to support and encourage others in their emotional, physical, and spiritual health as they adapt to life with a disability. She provides education, practical solutions, resources, and hope so people can live full and productive lives on her website JennySmithRollsOn.com.

Author

Jenny is the author of two books. In Live the Impossible, Smith shares with honesty and humor what it looks like to live with paralysis.

The Journey: Discovering Emotional and Spiritual Health after Disability is an activity-based workbook with tools to learn to cope with the emotional and spiritual impact of a physical disability or chronic physical condition.

Providing education, practical solutions, resources, and hope so people can live full and productive lives.

Speaker

Jenny is a dynamic speaker and loves to share her message of motivation and education with associations, students, medical professionals, and faith-based groups.

Speaker Topics:

- Live the Impossible (Keynote)
- The Journey (Interactive workshop on the emotional impact of disability)
- What You Want to Know about SCI: The Physical, Emotional, Sexual and Spiritual Impact
- How Traveling with a Disability is not Impossible
- Disability and Missions: Expecting People with Disabilities in the Church and Global Missions

JennySmithRollsOn.com

Jenny@JennySmithRollsOn.com

502.550.1335

jenny.smith.rolls.on

JennySmithRollsOn

JennySmithRollsOn